High Point University

In 1924, High Point College opened as a cooperative venture between the Methodist Protestant Church and the city of High Point. The campus consisted of three partially completed buildings, there were nine faculty members, and student enrollment was 122. Today the University has 28 buildings, is attractively landscaped, the full-time faculty numbers 110, and more than 2,900 students are enrolled in a wide variety of daytime, evening, and summer programs. Much has changed over the years. Yet the mission of High Point University may still be best expressed in the words of its founders more than six decades ago: "To help us to appreciate and to love our own, to know our needs and opportunities, and to make ourselves more efficient servants of Christ."

Through The Years

High Point University Celebrates its 80th Anniversary

The face of High Point University is constantly evolving. During the past four years, I've watched it grow and change. New buildings have been added - the Hayworth Fine Arts building, the Norton Interior Design Building, the Sixth Street Apartments, and University Village. Each year, a senior class leaves us, and a new class enters.

The doors of this campus have opened for 80 consecutive autumns to new, eager students. Eight decades of education and progress, growth and change have made this campus what it is today. Through hard times and good, the University has continually grown stronger and closer as a community.

To celebrate this monumental year, we look back through the years to show how much things have changed, and how much things have stayed the same.

There will always be the memories each class takes with them. Those memories are unique to the time and individuality of each class. At this moment, we're standing on the brink of change - with the past behind us and the future ahead. There's no way to be sure what will become of each of us....but I know we are all capable of great things.

Let's look to the past for guidance and comfort, and look to the future with hope and courage. But for now, let's look at this year and all the memories that accompany it.

A Letter from the President

Dr. Nido Qubein

*C*ongratulations to the High Point University Class of 2005!

What a wonderful time to be a new graduate! Our world is a much more diverse and interactive place than ever before, and you are faced with choices and challenges that previous generations could barely imagine. Now more than ever, you can accomplish things that your parents and grandparents once thought unattainable.

And you, members of the class of 2005, are on the launch pad of what will become your destiny. Armed with the knowledge, skills and attitudes you developed here, you have the power to become extraordinary. Focus that power wisely. You have the choice to work hard and enjoy wondrous success, or to be comfortable and complacent. Make that choice wisely. You're being entrusted with the gift to create opportunities. Don't let life simply happen around you.

President's Letter

As you march into the next phase of life, those of us who have watched you grow are prayerfully sending you forward into the world for one purpose ... to find the place of service which our God has ordained for you. Go with peace, go with joy, and go with the confidence that you can reach any height you can imagine.

Imagine great things; make them happen!

Through The Years

Events

There are events on this campus that have remained a staple since the school was formed in 1924. Orientation and Homecoming, though they have evolved through the years, were with the school since the start. New events however, have been formed to coincide with the old. On August 27th, 1994, a new tradition was started called Derby Day. While this seems like an event that forever, it has only past ten years.

has also only been ten years. The been participating has been around occurred for the Family weekend around for about student body has in the annual Crop

Walk for the past fifteen years. And the newest traditon on campus, Snow Ball, was started four years ago. As the school ages, new events are added to expand the school out into the community, through volunteering in the Crop Walk; out through the families, by inviting them to family weekend; and with each other, by adding another schoolwide dance for the spring semester. These events become a new tradition for High Point University.

7 Nights of Fun

A Chance to Meet New People

After a long day of moving in, students and members of the Orientation staff joined together for some rest and relaxation. In between the required tasks that the new students must complete over the next few days, such as taking placement tests and attending convocation, they also could opt to join the Orientation Staff for some fun High Point moments.

Various activities included: Casino Night, Karaoke Night, 80's Night featuring the Brat Pack, Comedy Night and the annual Luau.

Between all the events taking place, the different committees of the Orientation Staff were responsible for making sure events went smoothly and everyone enjoyed themselves.

All of these events focused on a few primary goals. It was important to the University that each student began to familiarize themselves with the campus, settle in, and meet new people. As the days went on, students got to know one another and loosen up. Orientation week was just the beginning of a new chapter in their life.

The Brat Pack provided entertainment during 80's night.

At the 10th Annual Derby Day

Derby Day is sponsored each year by greek life to emphasize community at High Point University.

This year, teams included those from residence halls, transfer students, and of course, members of the various greek societies on campus.

Teams competed in hippity-hop, tug-of-war,

the water balloon toss, and the dreaded mattress race!

The day also included a picnic and some good old-fashioned bonding with friends.

Derby Day represents a spirit of friendly competition, as well as a chance to bring the students of High Point University closer together as a community.

"I loved Homecoming, it was definitely one of the best nights I've had so far at High Point because I got to share it with all of my new friends I've made here," said Sean Tallbot.

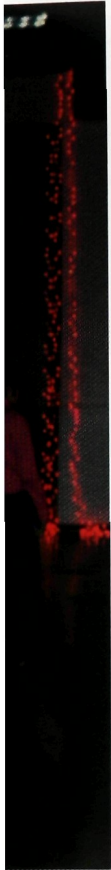

Gold was prevalent throughout the dance hall, in celebration of the 80th anniversary of High Point University. Students entered finding lights draped across the hall and purple balloons in the shape of a gigantic 80.

The evening culminated with the crowning of the new Homecoming King and Queen, Nicole Armer and Jackson Newbauer.

Family First

A Weekend For The HPU Families

A full schedule of events awaited the diverse families of High Point University students on the weekend of November 5th-9th 2004. That weekend the campus was filled with parents, grandparents, siblings, and other relatives or family friends. Saturday morning included the President's Breakfast free of charge to those visiting the campus. Families were enticed as the aroma of omlets and waffles filled the Panther Commons Dining Hall. This was a time for families to sit down with the students and their professors.

Later in the afternoon, people flooded the concourse of Slane for a taste of the International Food Fair hosted by the International Club. Not only were interested parents sampling the food, but some even got to attempt various types of dances pertaining to specific cultures.

For some night time entertainment, students and their families were invited to watch the Tower Players perform "Suessical: The Musical" in the Hayworth Fine Arts Center.

Throughout the weekend faculty members were on hand to meet and mingle with the families of their students.

The weekend culminated on Sunday with a special service held in Hayworth Chapel.

Families of High Point University students got a chance to see just how special life at the University can be.

Stopping Hunger

In its Tracks

Since 1983, High Point University has been a sponsor of the Crop Walk. The walk is a three mile journey that starts and finishes at HPU.

Held to raise funds and awareness, the Crop Walk fights hunger both locally and globally. This year the High Point Crop Walk had a record number of participants - over 600.

Annually, the HPU volunteer Center coordinates the efforts of the Greek community to facilitate the event, while local businesses donate food and beverages for the participants.

Church groups, civic organizations, and High Point students alike unified to show the power of a caring community. This year participants enjoyed beautiful fall weather and left knowing that their efforts made a difference.

After the walk everyone had a free lunch distributed by the greek community.

Nicole Barnes and Clifford Smith of the Volunteer Center helped to organize the Crop Walk.

Poker Tournament is a Sure Bet

You Gotta Know When to Hold 'Em

There are websites devoted to it, it's all over the television, and on November 20, 2004, High Point students got the chance to take part in this year's cultural phenomenon. Texas Hold 'Em is the "Cadillac" of poker. It takes a minute to learn and a lifetime to master. And with shows like Celebrity Poker and coverage by ESPN of the World Series of Poker, the game is at its height in popularity. Players were treated like the pros as they received their name badges upon check-in and escorted to one of the 9 playing tables. Those eliminated early on enjoyed the pizza and cookies as they cheered on their friends still playing. In total, 58 students participated in the tournament that lasted 6 hours. The final table consisted of: Mark Boice, Will Taylor, Nick Adams, Remarcus Curry, Terry Maturo, Trevor Stahl, and Michael Davy. Ultimately, Michael Davy won the tournament with Trevor Stahl and Terry Maturo finishing 2nd and 3rd, respectively. One player, John Antignano commented, "This is the best event the school has ever had, I hope we can do it again." With comments like that, it's a good BET that we will!

Tournament Director Roger Clodfelter congratulates Michael Davy on besting the other players.

Four foot silver snowflakes drifting over every table, sparkly penguins, strings of romantic blue lights, and a stage dressed in a gown of ice colored sequins set the scene for the fourth annual winter SnowBall.

Once again, Student Government and the Office of Student Life partnered to host what has become the social event of the season.

This year, students laughed at Old Man Winter as they took over the Radisson Ballroom and enjoyed a night of food, fun, and dancing.

For senior Nicole Armer, SGA executive vice president, SnowBall marked the end of her two years in office, "This dance represents the best of what we are as a University, but for me it's bittersweet. It's my last time planning an event like this. I'm truly going to miss it."

Virginia Provencher and Jay Bozman share their first dance as Snow Queen and Winter King.

Dancing Queens Beth Tasca and Ashley Neilson flash a big smile for the camera, but never missed a beat.

Through The Years

tudents' lives are filled with the mediocre and the routine, as well as the new and life changing. Moving in to High Point University was one of those life changing occurrences. Throughout its 80 year history, High Point University has welcomed hundreds of students each year to educate and prepare them years later. Students to wear each day morning. They or choose not to. # In Our Rooms

Sleep, Eat, Study...

Finch, McEwen, Yadkin, North, Wesley, and Belk. Our college residences. Our dorms are where we spent a majority of our time. Chillin' with a roomie, getting ready for the next big party, studying for that history exam you have tomorrow, or just catching some ZZ's between classes are some of our main activities in dorm rooms.

As days go by, our dorms begin to feel more like home. After a few more trips to Wal-Mart and home to get more stuff, our dorms evolve to more than just living space. Our hallmates become family and our dorms become our cozy nooks.

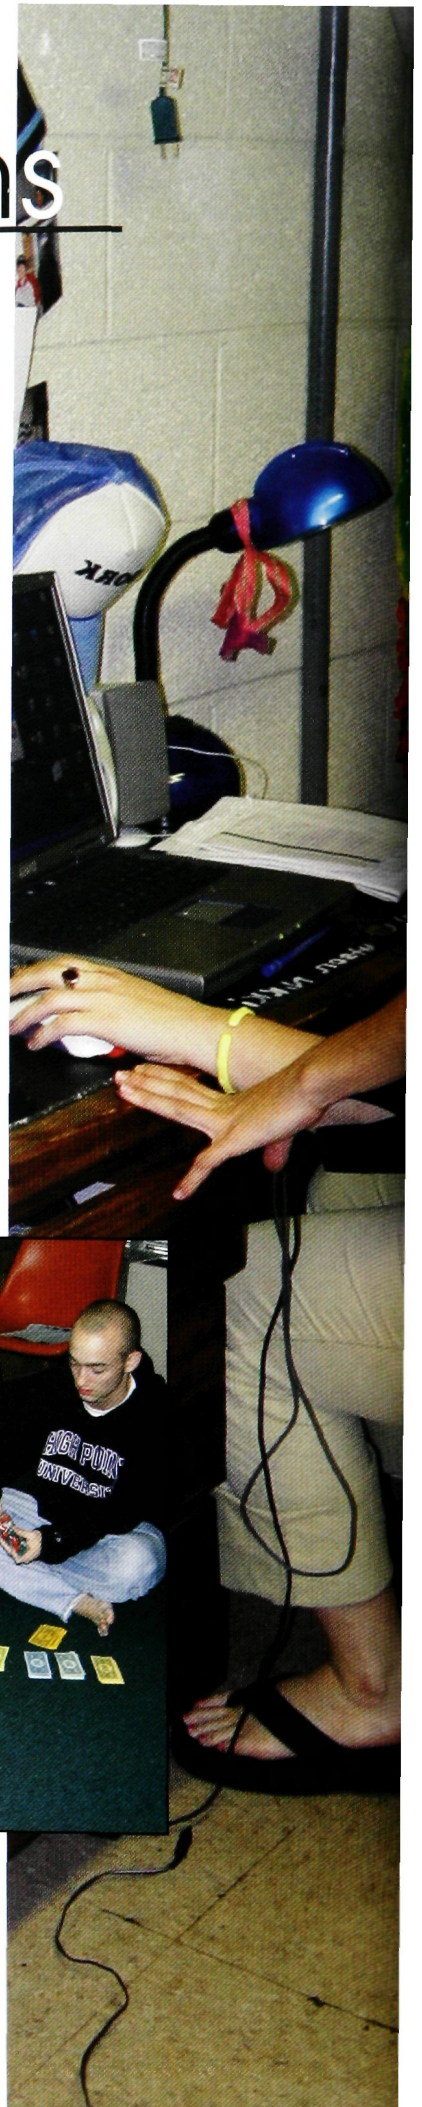

Living on campus enhances our college experience by allowing us to bond closely with others.

80% of students get along with the people on their floor.

70% of students like their roommate.

65% of students live on campus.

90% of students live in double occupancy rooms.

Board games provide a welcome retreat away from the stress of work. Computers are essential for any dorm room. Video games provide entertainment and healthy competition. Walk into any women's bathroom in the AM and you're sure to see 3 robes and 3 shower caddies as the women shower and get ready for the day to come.

Cars packed to the brim were unloaded throughout the day. Laundry hampers, TV's and crates, Oh my! Piles of "heccessities" crowded the HPU campus throughout the morning and afternoon. Orientation team members wait expectedly for the new students to arrive to pick up their Orientation packets. It took a group effort to get all the refrigerators and trunks and computers up multiple flights of stairs.

Going In and Out

Waiting, Moving, and Meeting

The Orientation Staff was ready and waiting on the morning of August 23rd for a wave of new students to arrive. Some people reported the line of cars to enter the University was a mile long. Waiting in lines, however tedious, was the only part of the day students were able to stand still.

Move-In Day had 425 new freshmen and 104 new transfers rushing all over campus trying to get situated.

Parents and siblings came in force to help unload cars and vans and carry the TV's and mini-refrigerators up two or three flights of stairs. There to help with the unloading were the members of the Orientation Staff, donning the bright green shirts.

Late in the evening, everything was just about finished. The last few boxes were being tossed and the family cars were driving away with an occasional hand wave out the window.

60% of new students bought their dorm accessories at Wal-Mart.

55% said the transition into college was "sort of" easy.

45% of new students said their classes were going "alright."

65% of students like their dorm room.

The Study Abroad program at High Point University began in 1987. It proved to be a highly successful program that allowed students to flourish in the use of their foreign language skills as well as expose them to the cultural differences abroad and stateside. Primarily, students travel to Paris if they are studying French, Heidelberg to study German, and Spain to study Spanish. It is also possible for students to travel to St. Andrews, Scotland and Oxford, England enjoy the rich experiences and camaraderie of studying abroad. The majority of students who participate in this program are foreign language majors or are majoring or minoring in international business as well as international studies. Study Abroad has proven to be a successful part of the High Point University curriculum.

All Around the World

A once in a lifetime experience

It is not everyday that one is able to walk to class and pass the Eiffel Tower, or drive along and see the beauty of Buckingham Palace or perhaps take a gondola ride one weekend as a study break. The benefits of studying and traveling abroad are those that will last a lifetime. Each fall, select members of the High Point student body are chosen to spend a semester abroad.

Last year, Drew McIntyre, Audrey Cecil, Jennifer Landers, Joey Ashley, and Jason Walters were blessed with the ability to study in Scotland, as Kurtis Eckard and Mario Gonzalez departed to learn in Paris. Shannon Hunt and Abby White spent the fall of 2004 in England. Each student brought back an experience that forever changed their outlook on life and other cultures.

Standing in front of the London Bridge, which crosses the Thames River, Anna Linhart, Megan Hutson, Anna Springs and Lisa Bingham, traveled to London to take in the many sights over fall break. Taking a pause from his Spring Break "Tour of Italy", Kurtis Eckard stands atop Fort Belvedere in Florence, overlooking Tuscany. The view was simply breathtaking, with the Duomo Cathedral seen in the background. Jason Walters, Audrey Cecil, Drew McIntyre, Jennifer Landers, and Joey Ashley in St. Andrews, Scotland. # Those We Trust

Siblings, Roommates, and Friends

Whom do you trust?

Whom do you turn to when you have a "crisis"? Being on a small campus, HPU elicits a familial feeling among students, yet it is also big enough so you don't know the name of every person you walk by.

So when it comes to your closest confidant, you look for the person whom you trust with your deepest, darkest secrets, whom you trust with your inner-most fears, but also whom you trust with your happiness.

The simple joy of joking with your brother or sister, being able to cry on your best friends' shoulder, or holding your loved one's hand can give your life a deeper meaning. Relationships brighten our days and allows us to enjoy every moment of our lives.

Sing Praises to Him

Chapel Services provide Fellowship

Chapel services are held every Wednesday and are open to all students, faculty, and community members. Chapel is facilitated by the Board of Stewards, comprised of students who write prayers, usher, and assist Dr. Warlick with the services. Greek organizations assist with the weekly services on a rotating basis, serving as ushers and speakers during the service.

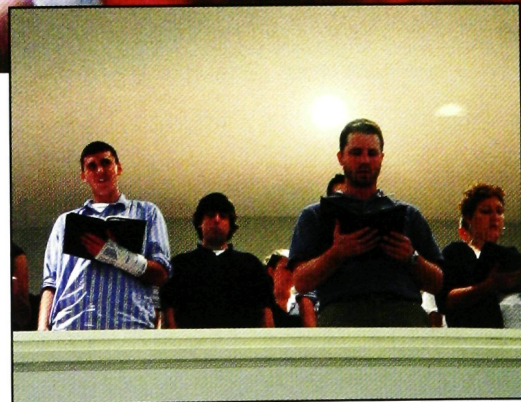

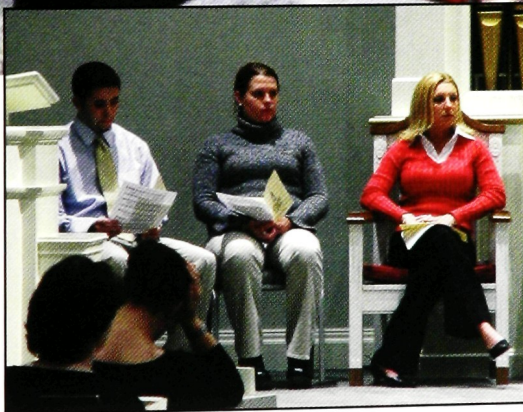

Music for the services is provided by various groups including Chapel Choir, Genesis, local choirs and churches, as well as national opera companies.

The message each week is traditionally presented by Dr. Hal Warlick. Others may speak on various occasions including Dr. Jacob Martinson and Bishop Tom Stockton.

High-heeled stiletto shoes are the most popular style for the 2004-2005 season at High Point University. Females of all classes are wearing these shoes to every dressy event held on or off campus. These shoes shout "classy!"

This group of women show off their black pants that are comfortable-casual but also made for those special dressy occasions. Black is such a popular color for pants and skirts because no matter what color the shirt is, everything always matches!

A hit combination this fall was the classic yet casual outfit combining semi-flare khakis, a button down collar shirt covered with a light sweater. To top the outfit off, nothing is ever complete without the common flip-flops worn all season into the beginnings of winter.

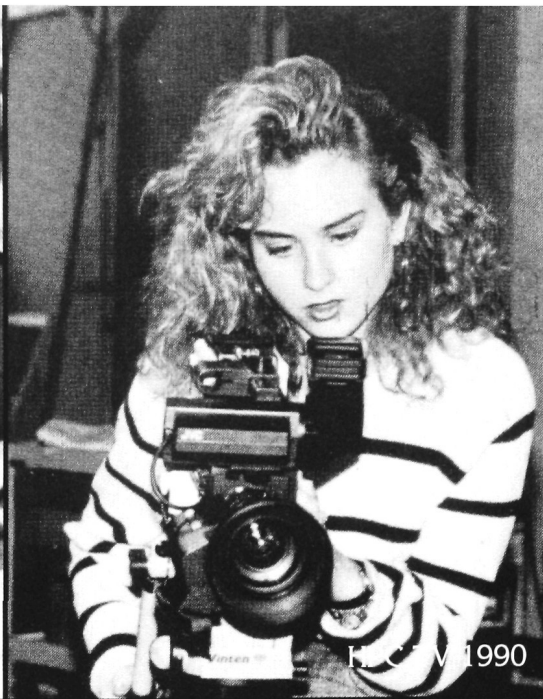

The greek community on this campus show their letters on t-shirts, sweatshirts, bags, and shorts. Every member of the sorority or fraternity has a wardrobe filled with their letters.

rganizations are what make this campus what it is. There are over 70 active student groups currently on the HPU campus. They give students a chance to participate in something they love. Many organizations have been around for decades. Zenith has been documenting the school's history every year since it opened in 1924. Proving that the campus is truly a microcosm of the world in which it exists, the College Democrats and College Republicans squared off in 2004 with a spirited series of debates meant to focus attention on both the candidates and their positions.

Bombarded by the ever present analysis of "red state, blue state," the national candidates for President George Bush and John Heinz-Kerry, were the center of the white hot election that divided both a nation and the campus. Although intense, the rivalry between the two campus groups proved to be both significant and enlightening to our students.

A Foreign Flair

At High Point University being and individual means many different things. Students showcase their differences through clothes, music, majors, hair color and many other ways; but at the end of the day everybody enjoys the company of their fellow students. Each year our International club sponsors a International Fair during Family weekend. The members take special care in preparing their native foods and wearing their native ensembles. This is their day to allow students to see what their country has to offer. Through the International students all of the HPU students get a chance to be in a far off place, vastly different from the residences many American born students have come to know.

Our students show their diversity as they dance to the beats of foreign melodies.

The Outdoor Activities Club (OAC) is a student-run organization whose main purpose is to create opportunities for students and faculty to experience the wonders and excitement of the outdoors. These trips allow for travel to different states and geographic regions in the U.S. In addition to traveling, some OAC activities take place in our own backyard and include opportunities to camp, raft, cave, kayak, and backpack. The outings are rewarding and timeless and, in the end, produce life-long friendships and lasting memories.

The Students for Environmental Awareness (SEA) is a group of students and faculty concerned with the beautification and conservation of our world's resources and lands. As a branch incorporated within the OAC, the SEA works hand-in-hand with area agencies to service recycling programs on campus and in the community, Big Sweep® river cleanups, and other environmentally conscious activities. In the fall, OAC and SEA worked with a local paddling club to remove more than 10 bags of trash from the Dan River in Stokes County. OAC also hosted a number of indoor climbing wall nights and an afternoon of paintball, where students and faculty played capture the flag. Spring events included snow skiing and snowboarding, backpacking, camping, sea kayaking, and a simulated campsite with s'mores and a hot dog bar, where SEA announced an on-campus recycling program for aluminum, glass, and plastic containers.

Members of OAC also find time to give back to the community. In November, the OAC members helped clean up the Dan River.

Resident Advisors are an integral part of everyone's college experience. Their job is to assist students with problems, enforce visiting hours, perform safety checks, and maintain security and the safety of everyone in their hall. Throughout the year, RAs can be counted on to step in when needed, help with campus events, sponsor hall events and social programs, and serve as the link between the students and the administration. While their work often goes unnoticed, the RA staff typifies life as a student leader.

In the Spotlight

The theatre department is making leaps and bounds in its continuation of excellence. Just a short while ago, there were as few as two plays a year. That number has doubled to two main productions a semester. Not only have productions increased on stage at Hayworth Fine Arts Center, but also, above the mail room, in the Empty Space Theatre. The productions taken on in the intimate theatre are of smaller cast sizes, shorter lengths, but in no means reduced abilities on the part of the actors. The increase in productions has not caused a diminishing of acting abilities on stage. It in fact has had the opposite effect. With the amount of shows, the actors have been able to hone their skills more fervently. For the first time in High Point's history, a production has been taken to competition for the American College Theatre Festival. Though it was not picked as the best, it shows the invigorated confidence that not only the students but the administration have for the University's theatre. The production, Medea, was also the first Greek tragedy performed in recent memory. With each season of plays completed, the performance level continues to increase, opening new doors to all who perform on the University stages.

Gertrude and Mayzie, Jojo and the Cat (in the Hat) all know that Seussical the Musical is where it's at. The characters were great as well as the singing from end to start, so when they take their next bow, be there to support our great theatre art.

The stage was full of bright color and crazy shapes. There was even a threesome of pink hairy apes. Whoville is up a ramp and some stairs on level two. The colors were a vivid yellow and orange too. Below was the playing space for the rest of characters in Seussdom. With wild colors and great songs, into a Seuss filled coma, you could succumb.

Making Memories Last

Work on this yearbook began early in the summer, long before students even walked through the door. Staff members were planning the theme and layouts for the book, creating spreads, and in July five members attended a workshop in New Orleans, Louisiana where they learned the skills they would need to produce quality spreads using InDesign, take professional photographs, and create a coherent theme which could be tied throughout the entire book. This year's theme, Through The Years, was created by Editor Melissa Caudill with the school's 80th anniversary in mind. With the theme set, the staff members began work throughout the first semester on the pages, using old yearbooks and the school's history as a unifying thread. Work lasted until early spring, and after all four deadlines had been reached, the staff could breath a sign of relief. Another year finished, another yearbook completed, another memento of the school's history added to the shelf.

The staff flips through old yearbooks in search of photos for the 80th anniversary edition.

Through The Years

Competition has always been a part of the High Point University tradition. When the school first opened in 1924 there were four official sports offered. Today there are 16 Division I Big South Conference sports. There are a few notable achievements in HPU's history. Our university was the first college in the South to play soccer. The Hi Po claimed for High Point the distinction of winning the first intercollegiate soccer game below the Mason-Dixon Line: a victory over Catawba. (Taken from No Easy Task) In 1945, without any court decision or claim of equal rights, a woman played on the varsity basketball team at High Point College. "Panther Girl," an article in Colliers magazine, began: "It couldn't have happened at Pitt or Purdue or in the Ivy League, for any number of reasons, but it did happen at High Point College in North

XC 2004, Seniors Jamie Vetten and Melissa Caudill after finishing their fourth and final season.

Carolina. There Miss Nancy Isenhour, nineteen years old, pretty and healthy, has achieved the national distinction of becoming the first girl to win a berth on a boys' college basketball team. Things have hardly been the same since. The boys like it, the girls adore it!" (taken from High Point University website). In the mid 90's the University reached its current position in NCAA Division I athletics. And most recently, in 2004 the University unveiled its new logo, only the fourth time in the history of the school that the athletic logo has changed.

Through the years athletics at HPU have changed, but the essence of sport has remained the same: to pursue healthy competition for the sake of personal achievement and glory for one's alma mater.

Beginning in the fall of 2003, the Sports Marketing Department began what is known as the student section of the Millis Athletic Convocation Center to be filled with Men's Basketball Head Coach Bart Lundy and Women's Head Coach Tooey Loy's, "Lunatics". The Lunatics are comprised of students that are crazy and wild during the home men's and women's basketball games and are seated behind the home basket. While the focus may be the score of the game, The Lunatics help each play along by adding a bit of spirit to the Millis Center. GO PANTHERS!

New Logo

On August 24, 2004, the new High Point University athletic logo was unveiled during a special assembly in the Millis Athletic Convocation Center. The new logo not only represents the determination and tenacity of the university's athletic teams, it represents the university as a whole. The new logo has also been given a trademark, a quality that the old logo did not have. The thought of changing the logo evolved during the discussion of a new gym floor and changing the logo only seemed fitting during this time.

Old Logo

Making its debut in 1989, the "flying purple panther" became the mascot of the athletic teams on campus. The purple panther was seen on all athletic apparel and was also displayed throughout campus on various buildings, letterhead, novelties and other miscellaneous items. It was after about a year of debate and thought, that a committee comprised of students, faculty, staff, and the Board of Trustees that the decision was made to put the "flying panther" to rest and create a new logo for High Point University athletics.

Fan Quotes

What the dedicated Panther fans have to say about the debate of the new logo...

"I love it!"

"The new panther is fierce. It makes the statement...Big South Conference watch out, here we come!"

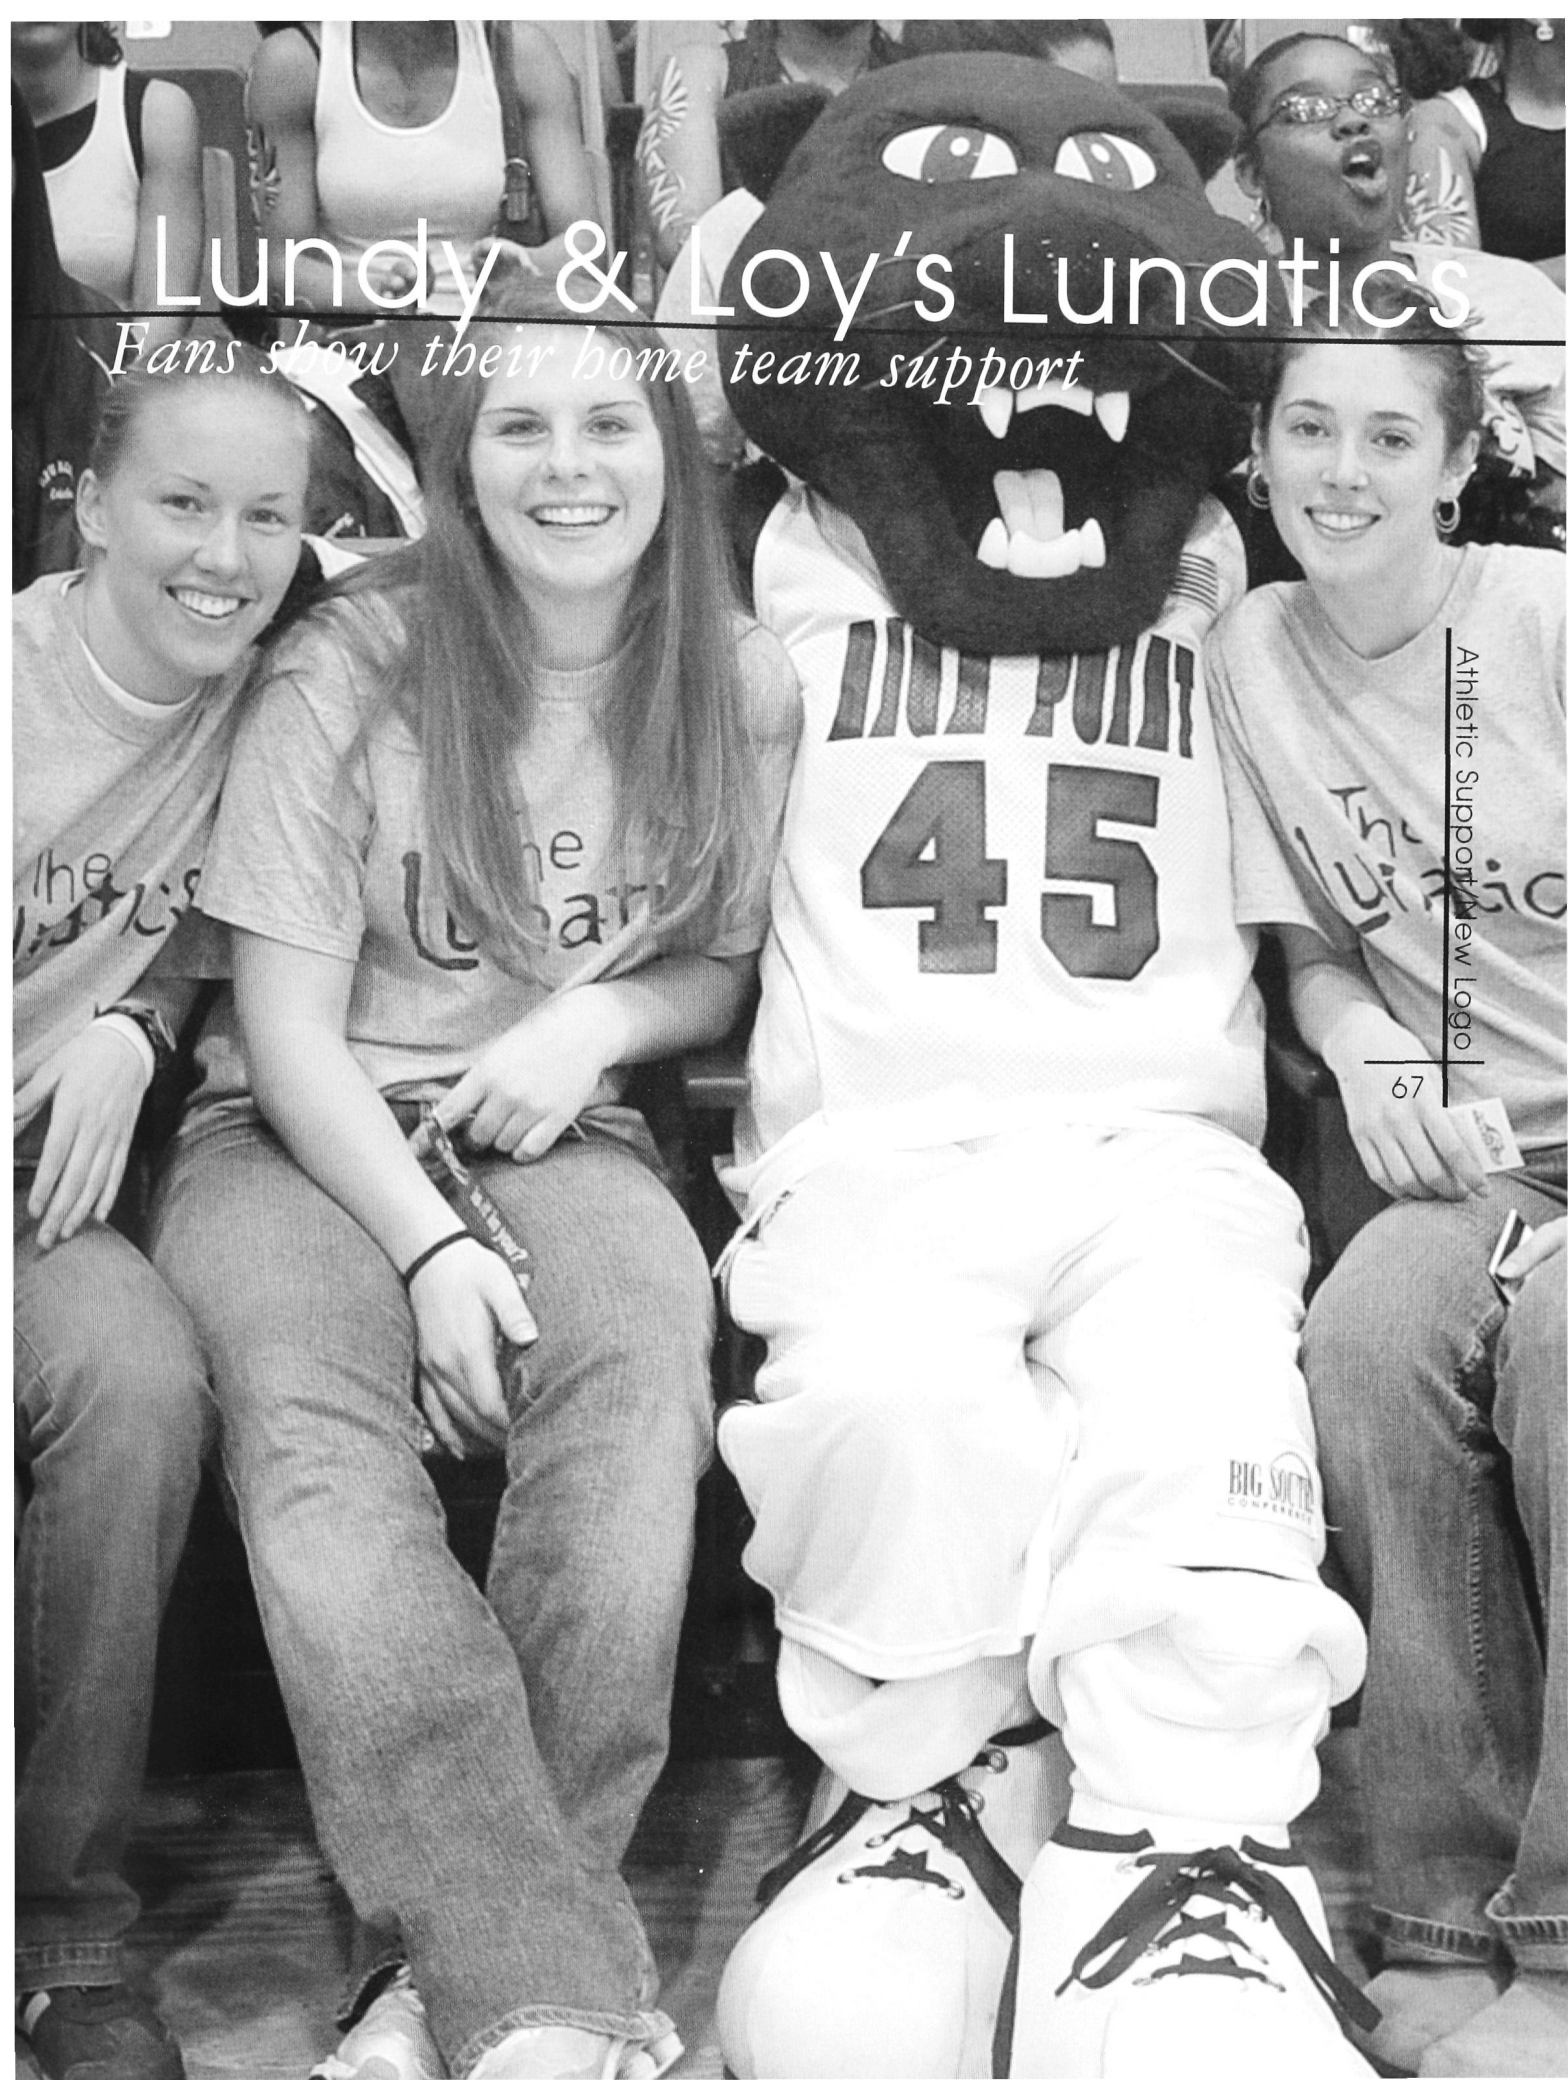

"The vibrant colors, sophisticated yet fun look of the letters and the mascot as a whole is absolutely amazing. It is a step in the right direction for the athletic program."

"I think it's AWESOME!"

Nick Thompson played the 2004 season of High Point baseball as a sophomore from South Boston, Va. As a sophomore Nick had impressive stats starting 15 of 29 games. He has managed seven runs batted in and six stolen bases. In his two season as a High Point Panther, he has started 65 of 80 games.

Season Summary

High Point Baseball of the 2003-2004 season brought with it many ups and downs. With many talented players and many close games, the High Point men couldn't put it together. They finished their season winning 11 of 44 games, with 4 of those wins being Big South wins and 20 losses coming from Big South schools. But all was not lost, the Panther men showed improvement from every angle. The players allowed themselves much room to improve and gave hope to all fans.

History

Baseball at High Point began in 1928, but was dropped in 1931 after being consistently unsuccessful. In 1933, the program was brought back to High Point, but was discontinued in 1942 after many men left for World War II. In 1956, High Point organized a team again and has not been dropped since. Since the baseball season of 1933, High Point baseball has been a winning sport with an overall record of 1096-922 and three ties. The baseball program has had 28 successful, winning seasons.

Coach's Corner

"We're pretty excited about the upcoming season. We had a very successful recruiting class. 'Collegiate Baseball' ranked our recruiting class as one of the top 15% in the nation for the 2004-2005 season, which is a big deal for us considering where we are at and where we are coming from as a baseball program. We are anxious and excited about this upcoming season. We're hoping to turn a corner and start putting our baseball program on the map"

Danny Gathings, a senior from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, scored his 1,000 collegiate point during his career at High Point University on December 2, 2004. Danny is noted as the 24th member of High Point University's Men's Basketball team to score 1,000 points. Danny's determination and overall knowledge of the sport has allowed him to lead the team to notable finishes and remembered as well often talked about plays. Collectively, these men bring great pride to the sport of basketball.

Season Summary

Starting the season in the air, the team traveled to Alaska for the Great Alaska Shootout where they faced Oklahoma, Utah, and Alaska Anchorage, falling to each school but gaining skill and experience. Losing tough matches to Creighton and Michigan, the Panthers returned home to become the local powerhouse and opened the Big South Conference with a stunning three wins. The Panthers proved early in the season that they are going to be this year's conference team to beat. The emotion that they play with is exemplified on the court and extends to the fans as well.

History

The men's basketball program began in 1928 under the direction of alumnus C. Virgil Yow. Yow's team won the conference in 1936 and again in 1939. The 1939 game was played in Harrison Gym which brought the team to the first round of the National Small College Basketball Tournament in which they lost. Yow then left, but the team prevailed winning the conference in 1946, 1951, and 1953. Eugene S. Little became a member of the team scoring 2,398 points which led to his number being retired. Jerry Steele soon became the coach, leading the team to 5 conferences championships and many victories in 31 years.

Coach's Corner

Coach Bart Lundy is in his second season as High Point's men's basketball coach. He became HPU's 10th head men's coach on April 22, 2003 and engineered one of the nation's best turnarounds in 2003-04 while leading HPU to a 19-11 mark and a spot in the Big South title game. For his efforts, Lundy was named the 2004 National Rookie Coach of the Year by collegeinsider.com.

Season Summary

The women's basketball team opened up their season with three straight wins, followed by seven on the road losses. After finally returning home, the Panthers were able to pick up a win. With four home games, as of 1/24/2005, the Panthers have picked up wins during all of those contests. With much of the season to be played, the Panthers look strong and prepared for some of their future games.

History

The basketball team began in 1968 at the start of sponsoring of women's athletics by the Carolinas Conference. High Point won both the conference and state in 1976, 1977 and 1979. The women were also victorious in the AIAW national small college championship, winning the game in overtime. It was that year that the women's team captured the only national title ever won by a team at HPU. Coach Wanda M. Briley was named Female Coach of the Year as well as National Small College Coach of the Year.

Coach's Corner

Starting as an assistant women's basketball coach under the direction of head coach Dr. Joe Ellenburg, Tooey Loy has been a part of the coaching staff at High Point University since his graduation from it in 1994. After six seasons as an assistant coach for the women's program, he took over the head coach position in the spring of 2001. Since taking over as head coach, he has led the Panthers to one appearance in the Big South Finals and has had seven members placed on the Big-South first or second teams.

Season Summary

The regular season was capped by both men's and women's teams placing first in 3 of 4 meets. The men captured their 3rd consecutive Big South Championship title, while the women matched their highest finish of 3rd place. All-Conference honors went to Jemissa Hess (1st), Derek Nakluski (3rd), David Freier (4th), Bubba Hill (5th), and Joel Primus (6th). Hess and Nakluski also earned All-Region honors by placing 8th and 23rd. Hess became the first HPU female qualifier to reach the National meet.

History

The cross-country program began in 1958 under head coach Bob Davidson. The team won the District 26 meet from 1968 to 1974 and again in 1976 and 1977. The 1968 team qualified for the national tournament for the first time. In 1978 the program was discontinued for 12 years. After it was reinstated, the team won the Carolinas Conference championship in 1992 and 1993. In 2001, Tommy Evans became the first High Point athlete to qualify for NCAA Cross Country Championships.

Coach's Corner

Both cross country teams had their most successful year in their Division-I history. The women's team experienced a surge of new talent and the development of returning talent. The Men's team continued their dominance of the Big South Conference and moved up significantly in the Region. The men's team garnered their third consecutive Conference Championship and placed 7th as a team at the Southeast Regionals, the highest finish ever by a Big South Conference team.

The men's golf team has nine members: Brent Clodfelter, Matt Hammond, Brian Hayes, and Chase Wilson of North Carolina, Tim Deavers of Maryland, Marc Issler of New Jersey, Brian Riley of New York, Patrick Rutter of Pennsylvania, and Daniel Windoff of Sweden.

Season Summary

As of January 31st, 2005 the men's golf team competed in 6 golf meets. They placed highest at a meet in Myrtle Beach, S.C. when they placed 7th out of 9 teams. The men's golf team has four meets until the Big South Championships in Greenwood, S.C. As of January 31st, 2005 the women's golf team has competed in 5 meets. With a 4th place finish at TPC of Virginia Beach, the High Point women posted their best finish in High Point history. The women will also compete in five more meets before heading to the Big South Championships.

History

The men's golf team began in 1946. In their first four years they won conference every year. Roger Watson was inducted into the NAIA Hall of Fame. In 1990, the golf team won their fifth conference championship title in the Carolinas Conference. This was the first time since they had won it in 1946. In the year 2003, women's golf was introduced at High Point University. Kate O'Sullivan became the first women's golfer to win an individual title for High Point at the TPC at Virginia Beach in November of 2004.

Coach's Corner

Men's head golf coach, J.B. White, took his position at High Point University in June of 2000. His assistant coach, David Synan, graduated from High Point University in May of 2003 and is in his second season. Julie Streng is the women's head coach for golf at High Point University. She accepted the position in November of 2002. She earned a Masters in Business Administration at Duke University in 2000.

Sports

Many different Intramural sports are offered at High Point University. This year, High Point offered men and women's outdoor soccer, men's flag football, men and women's indoor soccer, men and women's basketball, water polo, and tennis. Many different teams came together to compete in the many intramural activities offered.

Richard Hanson, heads the ball as Mark Gilbert observes. This year's team faced many challenges that led to a great display of commitment and talent. Many qualities are needed to field a team with enough variety and determination as this team displays. Talent and a positive attitude are great attributes to any team, but most prevalent with this group of athletes. When the pressure was on, each member stepped up and did what had to be done to either secure the win or prove that they had what it takes to head to the top.

Season Summary

This year's team started strong by winning their first five games of the season. The Panthers traveled to Virginia Tech, and were faced with a scoreless game in regulation and forced to begin what would be a series of five overtime games. UNC Greensboro, the number one team in the nation, got a wake up call the night they met the Panthers. High Point stepped up and scored first, yet found another overtime contest as the game was tied 2-2. Sadly, High Point was unable to find the net first. Overall the men finished 7-12-1.

History

Winning the conference every year before World War II, the soccer team actually began their competition by playing YMCA teams in the 1930's. In March of 1931, the team beat Catawba in the first intercollegiate soccer game played below the Mason-Dixon line. The men's soccer program was undefeated until 1935 when they joined the Central Carolina Soccer League. After taking a short hiatus, soccer began again in 1971. High Point then came back to win the conference seven times between 1976 and 1989.

Coach's Corner

Peter Broadley is in his seventh year as High Point's head men's soccer coach, and 14th season overall as a collegiate head coach. Broadley came to HPU in May 1998. Prior to his arrival at High Point, the native of England was the head men's soccer coach at Catawba College from 1990-1997. His career record at High Point is 33-38-6 and his overall record stands at 138-93-15.

Season Summary

The 2004-2005 Panther women's soccer team had a wonderful season. They finished the season with an overall record of 11-8-1 and 4-4 in Big South play. Their postseason was again a spectacular showing of their level of skill. In the Big South Conference tournament, they shut out Liberty 3-0 in first round play. In semifinal play against UNC Asheville, the women earned a 3-1 victory advancing them to the finals for the second year straight, where they lost in overtime to Birmingham-Southern.

History

Women's soccer began at High Point University, only after a field hockey program was discontinued in 1992. The field hockey program was discontinued in favor of a women's soccer team. In its short history as a program at High Point University, the women's soccer team has been very successful. In 2003, the lady panthers became the first women's team at High Point University to be crowned the Big South Conference Champions.

Coach's Corner

"This year's women soccer team showed determination and heart throughout the season. The opportunity to defend our Conference Championship title in the finals of the Big South Conference Championship was a tremendous accomplishment. It has left us looking forward to next season and all of its possibilities."

Year Summary

Each year, a number of students are given the opportunity to work with both athletes and peers in the effort to enhance their skills and become involved in athletic training. Seniors are sent to local high schools to work with football teams; juniors are assigned a fall sport on campus in which they travel with the team and cover practices as well as games; sophomores are placed in five two week rotations to get accustomed to the routine; and freshman are involved in learning competencies.

History

The Sports Medicine program at High Point University began in 1988. The Athletic Training Education Program was granted the prestigious honor of attaining the first AMA accreditation on February 2, 1994, making High Point's athletic training program the first in the nation with accreditation. The program is now accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs. Since 1994, over 110 students have gone through the athletic training program at High Point.

History

The tennis program at High Point University has been around since 1930, being the fourth sport recognized at High Point. The men's team played their first matches against other colleges during the spring of 1930. Since the beginning they have been a very dominant team. From 1973 to 1975, the High Point panthers were ranked in the top ten for tennis at small colleges. The women's tennis team played its first intercollegiate match in 1974 and was third women's team recognized at High Point.

Season Summary

The 2003-2004 Tennis season was filled with victories and determination, as both teams fared well against their competition. The women's team fought hard, but fell to Coastal Carolina in the Big South Women's Semi-Finals. The men's squad finished the season well with their only conference loss coming from a meet against Winthrop University. The women's and men's teams had a combined record of 26-12, excluding tournaments other than the Big South Tournament in April of 2004.

Coach's Corner

"The kids on both the men's and women's teams worked very hard last year to obtain the success they had with the men's side finishing second and the women's side finishing third at the Big South Tournament. Hopefully, this year we will be able to improve on that success. The conference should be very competitive. I can only hope and train them so that they will be playing our best tennis during the Big South Tournament come April."

History

In 1966, the men's track and field team was the Carolina's Conference Champions. The 1970's proved to be a good time for the panthers when they won the Carolina's Conference Track Championship and District 26 five times. In 1976, a new all-weather track was placed at the Albion Mills Stadium. The 1988 track team finished 16th in the NAIA National Meet. Brian Payne became a three time national champion and five time All-American in the high hurdles (1990-1993).

Season Summary

In the 2004 season, Taylor Milne and Kirk Rudder received Big South all-conference honors at the Indoor Championship meet. Rudder placed third in the 200m (22.18) while Milne won the mile (4:05.5) and the 3000m (8:20.36). He later went on to compete in the NCAA National Championships for the mile with a 13th place finish. At the BSC outdoor championships, All-Conference honors went to Alex Baikovs (3rd 800m), Tommy Evans (3rd 5000m), and Matt Goodale (3rd 3000m steeplechase).

Coach's Corner

"The year was framed by our first national qualifier in an individual event when Taylor Milne dominated the South Region and proved himself one of the top milers in the country when he finished 13th at Nationals. This early success set the foundation for the next step for HPU track when conference success and regional success is no longer the ultimate goal. HPU track has now moved onto the NCAA national level with plans of greater and greater successes."

History

Women's track and field has grown with an abundance of talent in its short history at High Point University. The team has had its best finishes at the Big South Conference Championships in 2002-2003 with 3rd places. Major accomplishments have been all-conference winners including Jemissa Hess, Kia Westbrook, and Denise Morgan. These women have also gone on to perform well at the NCAA East Regional Meet.

Season Summary

At the Big South Conference Indoor meet, Jemissa Hess won the 800m (2:15.55) and earned second in the mile (5:02.25) while Kia Westbrook was the winner in the 200m (25.37) and 400m (56.54). Hess claimed the honors in the 1500m (4:34.84) and the 800m (2:13.23) for the Big South Conference outdoor championships. Also, during the outdoor season, Nicole Garner set a new school record in the hammer throw (47.50 m) and Melissa Caudill captured the 10,000m record in 38:41.

Coach's Corner

"The 2004 season brought in a young team that shows a lot of potential. I am very excited to watch the team develop and continue to improve. This year's season was highlighted by freshman Jemissa Hess as she captured two first places at the Big South Conference outdoor meet. The women's program will gain momentum from this and, hopefully, others can continue with this pattern."

Season Summary

The women's volleyball team started their season with five away matches in which they earned a record of 4-1. Their first home match brought them a win against Davidson. Throughout the season the Panthers played twenty matches away from home. Their away match record was 5-15. Playing at home gave the High Point women a better record as they managed a 12-3 record playing at home. Overall for the season, the Panther women finished with a 5-9 record in Big South play and an overall record of 17-18.

History

The women's volleyball team began varsity play in 1968. Seven years later, they won their first conference championship in the Carolina Conference. By the time the women's volleyball team played its 23rd season, they had won the Carolina Conference ten times, winning five conference titles in a row from 1982-1986. Since their 2001 season, the High Point University women's volleyball team has compiled a record of 39-100, playing 11-45 in Big South play.

Coach's Corner

Women's volleyball head coach, Chad Esposito, has coached at High Point University for two seasons since taking reigns over as head coach in January of 2003. Before taking the position at High Point University, Esposito coached at St. Andrews, Lees-McRae, and at Wheeling Jesuit. Starting in 2004, Esposito has been serving as the Big South Volleyball Coaches chairperson and will continue doing so until 2006. Women's volleyball has two assistant coaches, Tahirah Dock Johnson and Ben Guiliano.

Greek Life

The greek community has been an integral part of this campus for decades. Pi Kappa Alpha was the first national fraternity on campus, chartered on February 7, 1953. Phi Mu became the first national sorority at High Point in 1953. Theta Phi was organized on campus in 1927 and in 1955 Theta Phi became the Gamma Gamma Chapter of Kappa Delta at HPU;

A Week of Greek

The Competition Heats Up

The 2004 Greek Week was yet another year of competition and fun. The four fraternities and four sororities paired up to prove who were the best Greeks on campus. This year's teams were Alpha Gamma Delta/ Delta Sigma Phi, Kappa Delta/ Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Mu/ Pi Kappa Alpha, and Zeta Tau Alpha/ Theta Chi. After weeks of planning and practice, the teams presented their talent through a variety of events such as volleyball, a pizza eating contest, toga bowling, and the campus favorite - the lipsync contest. The competition was fierce, but at the end of the week, Kappa Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha had claimed the title. Pat Hardman of Delta Sigma Phi and Angela Garvin of Zeta Tau Alpha were named this year's Greek God and Goddess, an honor given to the two students who best represent the goals and creeds of the entire Greek community.

Sisters Forever

The sisters of Alpha Gamma Delta have had a promising year. We have reached our goal of making Jewel Chapter by raising money for Juvenile Diabetes and are pleased to be making such a huge impact on others within our association. Sisters have been dedicated to helping out on campus and are all very involved with numerous clubs. Our very own Nicole Armer was crowned Homecoming Queen this year, and everyone is very proud of her accomplishment. We all hope everyone had a memorable year, and wish graduating seniors and returning students the best of luck! "When friends say they're "close as sisters", we're the kind of sisters they mean.

Brotherhood

Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity was founded on December 10, 1899. Symbolized by the Greek letters Delta, Sigma, and Phi, the Fraternity was based on the principle of the universal brotherhood of man. The stated objectives of dissemination are "the principles of friendship and brotherhood among college men, without respect to race or creed." The early organizers, including Meyer Boskey (Insula), also drafted Delta Sigma Phi's laws, requiring open membership to all college men of quality. The purpose of the Fraternity, written the same year, was "to fulfill the desire of serious young college men for a fellowship and brotherhood, as near a practical working ideal as possible not fettered with too many traditional prejudices and artificial standards of membership, and accompanied by a clean, pure, and honorable chapter home life."

True Sisterhood Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta Sorority started the year by winning Greek Week for the third year in a row. From then on, the year only continued to be a great one. The Sisters did many activities to support the local community as well as fundraise for their national philanthropies, such as the annual Shamrock 5K Fun Run for the prevention of Child Abuse in America. The Sisters also made time to assist with their local Girl Scout Troop that they sponsor. Founded at High Point in 1955, Kappa Delta Sorority spent a large majority of this year preparing for and celebrating their 50 year anniversary on campus. The White Rose Formal held in the spring, brought back alumni from many years past and provided a great time for decades of sisterhood. Along with the spring formal, the KDs also enjoyed the fall Sisters Formal and the annual winter Crush Party. Throughout all of the years of hard work and fun, the Sisters always stuck by their motto: Let us strive for that which is honorable, beautiful and highest.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Lambda Chi Alpha was founded by Warren A. Cole, while a student at Boston University, on November 9, 1909; with the purpose of bringing together college students of good moral character in the various collegiate institutions within the United States and Canada; to foster a high Christian standard of life and ideals, to promote honorable friendship, to cultivate intellectual excellence, to secure for members the greatest advantages in college life, to establish brotherly love, mutual aid, close personal connection between alumni, undergraduates and college, and to bind them together for mutual pleasure and interest in college as well as after life by testing each other with courage, self-control, obedience, democracy and courtesy toward all with whom they may come in contact. Today, Lambda Chi Alpha International Fraternity is one of the largest men's general fraternities in North America with more than 227,000 initiated members and has held subsidiaries (called chapters) at more than 300 universities. Lambda Chi Alpha serves to complement higher education by providing opportunities for academic achievement, leadership development, and lifelong friendships.

Love, Honor, Truth

The sisters of Phi Mu fraternity have enjoyed another action filled year at High Point University! There are many moments that have impacted our sisterhood. In the fall, we sponsored our first 3 on 3 basketball tournament and returned to the Teddy Bear Ball at Duke's Hospital. Both events help promote our philanthropy. Later in the spring, we indulged ourselves in a "Pampered in Pink" sisters bonding day.

Our favorite event was the Carnation Ball, our annual formal sponsored by the seniors.

It was the perfect way for the outgoing sisters to end their Gamma Zeta chapter experience and show their eternal love for the sisters remaining. To the sisters carrying on the light of Phi Mu, we want to say that the cherished memories of the past four years will always stay imprinted on our hearts.

Pi Kappa Alpha Brotherly Love

Pi Kappa Alpha International Fraternity is composed of men who share similar ideals of friendship, truth, honor, and loyalty.

Pi Kappa Alpha was founded at the University of Virginia on March 1, 1868. The essence of the Founders' vision for Pi Kappa Alpha can be found in its Preamble. A committee was first suggested by Brother William Alexander "to draw up a statement of the origin and the organization of the Fraternity." The committee was composed of brothers Robertson Howard and Littleton Waller Tazewell. The resulting statement is now referred to as the Preamble. "For the establishment of friendship on a firmer and more lasting basis; for the promotion of brotherly love and kind feeling; for the mutual benefit and advancement of the interests of those with whom we sympathize and deem worthy of our regard; We have resolved to form a fraternity, believing that, thus we can most successfully accomplish our object."

Brothers 4 Life

Theta Chi National Fraternity was founded on April 10, 1856, at Norwich University in Norwich, Vermont. The Epsilon Alpha Chapter of High Point University was founded on December 10, 1954. Since being founded, the brothers of Theta Chi have put their motto of "Extending the Helping Hand" into good practice by playing prevalent roles in various campus activities, including S.G.A. Executive Officers, Class Officers, Resident Assistants, University Ambassadors, Club Representatives, and, of course, intramural sports.

December 10, 2004 marked the 50th Anniversary Celebration of the Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Theta Chi at High Point University. The celebration of their Golden Anniversary, coupled with the wonderful success of their annual Rock-Athon for the American Diabetes Association, as well as their efforts to play bingo once a month with the residents of The Wesleyan Arms Retirement Center are just a few of the highlights of a great year for Theta Chi. For Greek Week, Theta Chi was paired with the Sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha, and even though they failed to come out on top, they had a wonderful time with the ZTAs.

Zeta Tau Alpha Zeta is Forever

As sisters we cherish the unforgettable memories we make throughout our college years. Our love for one another exceeds friendship as we serve as each others' family. The bond we have doesn't just stop at graduation, Zeta is for always, "Remembering always that the foundational precept of Zeta Tau Alpha was love the greatest of all things." This year we had a fund raiser in the month of October for breast cancer awareness month. ZTA raised $1,200 to donate to the breast cancer awareness foundation. Also, in the spring we held our annual golf tournament in which all the donations and proceeds go to the breast cancer awareness foundation. Another event that some of the sisters participate in is "The Walk for the Cure."

Through This Year

With Respect to the Past and Looking Forward to the Future

Epilogue

Goodbyes are never easy. Especially when the future is so vast and unknown. The past four years have been a time of tremendous growth and change for me, as they've been for the University. Looking back on a year filled with work, fun, and friends, I hope that everyone will take great memories with them when they leave.

Though I'm saying goodbye to High Point University, I know I'm never really leaving. My contribution to the school, as well as all the other contributions of the class of 2005 will be left behind. We truly have left this campus better than we found it.

To those who remain behind, keep building on that legacy, for a University is only as good as its students. Through the years we lose track of time as lives are filled with work, responsibility, and change - but don't forget to look back every once in a while to see just how far you've come.

Congratulations Class of 2005 and Bona Fourtuna!

Melissa Caudill
Editor In Chief

A Letter from the Chancellor

Dr. Jacob Martinson

*M*rs. Martinson and I are genuinely rich in friendships. So many of you in the Class of 2005 have been role models for other students. You are dear friends who have contributed enormously to High Point University. We extend to you our heartfelt congratulations.

In nearly twenty years of service as President of this fine center of learning, I have had countless young people come to my office and sit beside my desk and tell me of their anxieties as well as their dreams and personal aspirations. From this store of experience, I have learned many basic truths. Perhaps the most important is that every person on the face of the earth, regardless of an individual's race, creed, color, sex, religion, age or handicap, is worthy of and must be treated with respect as befits a child of God.

As for your future, don't ask, "What will people think?" but, instead, consider what you will think of yourself if you do no less than your best. Years ago, a man by the name of Peter Bertocci became a friend, mentor and counselor to my wife Libby when she was a student in Boston. Dr. Bertocci was a distinguished Borden Parker Brown Professor of Philosophy and a world-renowned philosopher. One day I picked up an educational journal and read about Peter Bertocci's views on education in which he said that education represents a marriage of fact and value. All judgments reflect values. Every judgment we make reflects values. You have been taught values at High Point University. Again, so many of you are role models. The scripture speaks of honor: "Live in harmony with one another. Do not be haughty, but associate with the lowly. Never be conceited. Repay no one evil for evil, but take thought for what is noble. Never flag in zeal." Those are good values.

You have learned what honor, reliability, honesty and doing your very best mean. Now, go forth and apply wisdom in service.

Jacob B. Martinson

Colophon

This 81st volume of High Point University's Zenith was printed by Taylor Publishing Company at their plant located in Dallas, Texas. The Taylor representative was Susan Saxon. Using 1 Dell desktop and 1 Toshiba laptop, the 12 editors, staffers, and photographers produced the 160 page book. Photographs were taken digitally and submitted on disk. Pages were laid out using Adobe InDesign 2.0, photos were enhanced using Adobe Photoshop 7.0. The theme Through the Years was created by Melissa Caudill, as well as the cover and divider pages. The cover is midnight blue, linen grain lithograph. The book was printed on 80 pound gloss enamel paper. Fonts used were Rinna for copy, Vanguard for headlines, Gourmand Italic for subheads, and Cherishin Script. Portrait photos were taken by LifeTouch. Photographs were taken by Roger Clodfelter, Katie Clain - Stefanelli, Nicole Beaudwin, and Megan Pastor. Select athletic photographs were provided by the Office of Sports Information.

With Thanks

The Zenith staff would like to thank our Taylor Representative, Susan Saxon, for all her expertise and guidance throughout the year. Thanks also go to our advisor, Roger Clodfelter, in his second year of advising the yearbook. We would like to thank both Roger and Susan for organizing and planning our trip to the conference in New Orleans during the summer of 2004. Thank you to President Nido Qubein and Chancellor Jacob Martinson for their contributions. Thank you to the coaching staff for their quotes, statistics, and photographs. Thank you to Lee Owen for the athletic photographs. Thank you to the Greek presidents for providing information. Thank you to Mike Tarara for assisting with the Spotlight Players spread. Thank you to Rans Triplett for his help in editing and proofing the book. And finally, thank you to the students of this University - this book is dedicated to you.
